RAG SOURCE PRIORITY AND CONFLICT HANDLING

Use the original SGRRU brochure as the primary source for facts explicitly stated in the brochure.

Use the supplemental information in this section for additional query coverage where the original brochure is silent.

When two reported figures differ, do not silently choose one.

For campus area, report the variation between 80 to 100 acres, 82.5 acres, and the brochure figure of 100 plus acres.

For total programs or courses, report that supplemental sources state more than 125 programs and 103 courses across 10 streams, and explain that the counting method may differ.

For hostel fees, present the figures as reported or indicative and state that exact current charges must be verified with the relevant college.

Do not convert an unverified report into an official university fee.

Do not infer an HOD from a person's academic designation alone.

For HOD questions, use an explicitly stated HOD or Head title.

If a complete list of HODs is requested, state that the supplied material identifies only specific departmental leaders and does not provide a complete university wide HOD list.

For current fees, admission dates, seats, or other time sensitive information not confirmed in the brochure, direct the user to the official university admission information.

SOURCE LIMITATIONS AND DATA QUALITY

The original brochure contains many image only pages and decorative pages.

The original brochure also contains OCR extraction errors, broken words, decorative symbols, repeated page numbers, and image artefacts.

This cleaned document removes those artefacts rather than preserving them.

Names, programs, eligibility criteria, concessions, facilities, and contact details are retained only where supported by the supplied brochure.

The brochure does not provide a reliable HOD name for the School of Management and Commerce Studies.

The brochure does not provide a complete course wise tuition fee structure in the supplied document.

For current admission dates, current seat availability, current fee amounts, or information not stated here, the assistant should direct the user to the official university admission information rather than invent an answer.
